Diaphragm Gauges

All-Pro Products first introduced the Precision Diaphragm Gauge in 2000. Since then, All-Pro has again set the precedent for dependable, quality gauges. Constantly searching for greater possibilities to improve gauge standards, All-Pro strives to be the industry leaders and innovators.

Concave Lens Features:

- Stronger Design - less cracking of faceplates
- Will not allow dial face to flex and damage internal components
 - Easier to read
- Overall improved durability

EGT4015SH Diaphragm Gauge Assembly

Additional Features:

- Overload Protection
- Styrofoam packaging
- Maintenance-free set hand
- Easy turn knurled knob
- Advanced overload protection
- Bilingual instructions included
- Certification also available

All-Pro's Diaphragm Gauge Overload Protection

How it works:

As the air supply channel increases with pressure, the diaphragm will expand to pull the seal to the seat. The seal prevents the diaphragm from receiving any more pressure that is required to force the seating. This action prevents the application of over pressurizing from destroying the sensitive diaphragm capsule.

The following section displays All-Pro's breadth of instrumentation related products offered. From the best diaphragm gauges, to the basic air test gauge, All-Pro is your one-stop for all plumbing gauges.

Certification (Optional)

All-Pro Products offers certification services on all diaphragm gauges. If a gauge is certified, it has been individually verified against an industry standard at specific points along the scale. The results of this certification are recorded on an official report from Alliance. This report accompanies the diaphragm gauge during its initial shipment and a placard is placed onto the back of the gauge, along with a security seal.

The All-Pro diaphragm gauge was introduced to the industry as a low-cost reliable alternative to mercury columns for testing for low pressures accurately. All diaphragm All-Pro gauges share these features:

- * Class 1A (1%) accuracy, now the standard which was set by All-Pro
- * Easy to read 4" wide dial face that is protected by a shatter-proof lens
- * Maintenance-free inspector hand
- * Visual warning zone printed directly onto dial face
- * Supplied with air block, inlet valve, teflon tape and instructions
- * All-Pro exclusive "true-zero" box rather than a stop post
- * Stainless steel cases with brass movements
- * Meets or exceeds any municipal requirement or specification related to low-pressure testing

All-Pro replacement sewer/sink cables are manufactured from music wire steel, which is the industry-leading choice for durability. Though, any exposure to acid voids the warranty for these cables.

PINLOCKING SEWER CABLE

The 5/8" and 3/4" pinlocking cables are supported with a plastic innercore which helps to control the inside diameter of the coils in normal high torque applications. The pinlock connections mate up perfectly to all Spartan, National and Mustang machines/cables.

SAFE-T-SEAL PNEUMATIC TEST PLUGS FROM G.T. WATER PRODUCTS

The plumbing industry is government regulated regarding safety warnings, but not safety design. G.T. Water has developed its Safe-T-Seal line with concern for the user's safety. Test plugs are specifically used to pressure test water lines in new construction and renovation projects. The Safe-T-Seal brand, as the name implies, has eliminated the negative, dangerous features associated with other major brands by including a patented pressure release safety valve to prevent over-inflation.

Safe-T-Seal test plugs combine the quality and safety needed and expected on the job. Choose between eleven different sizes ranging in diameters from 1-1/4" pipes to 24" pipes.
